On 10-20-2000, I parked in front of Lenscrafters, as I needed to confer with an eye specialist, but first I ran across to Rich's, to get a bottle of perfume for a gift, and was gone only a few minutes.

When I left the parking lot, I saw no signs about booting, as I was looking for Rich's, and dodging traffic.

When I returned, it cost me $95 to get the boot off, and the attendant did not care that I was actually there to see lenscrafters.

The signs are too small, not at eye level, and the fee is too much.

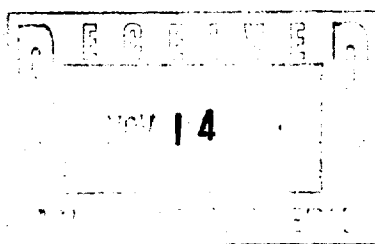

The entire scam is to collect large amounts of cash, and the size and location of signs bear this out, and who in the city is getting a cut of the $95.00? Also, the IRS needs to monitor this high cash operation.

Look at my receipt; my name is not on it, and the attendant did not sign it, but he drove a blue truck lic. #763WHA Fulton County.

I want my money returned, since my goal was to do business in that Lenox shopping center.

I can assure you that I will not enter your joke of a city again, as a $55.00 bottle of perfume for my sister ended up costing me $150.00.

I can purchase the same perfume up highway 400.
